DR. JASON KARP LAUNCHES JK LITERARY AGENCY

SAN DIEGO, CA – Dr. Jason Karp announced the launch of JK Literary Agency today, a dynamic new literary agency representing nonfiction authors in a variety of categories, specializing in fitness and health.

“After ten years of writing books and working with publishers, I’m thrilled to launch JK Literary Agency to help aspiring book authors get published,” said Dr. Karp, founder of and principal agent at JK Literary Agency. “It’s fulfilling to create something tangible from a blank piece of paper or computer screen and see it in bookstores. I’m happy to help others achieve that.”

About JK Literary Agency

JK Literary Agency was founded on the love of books, the creative pursuit of writing, and the interest in helping writers become published authors. In addition to representing authors, JK Literary Agency offers a suite of book writing services, including book proposal writing, editing, and ghostwriting.
